

Pair of antique Medici vases in weathered Burgundy stone

These two magnificent antique vases in Burgundy stone, beautifully weathered by time, are reclaimed monolithic Medici vases. The Medici vase in stone remains a benchmark of classical decoration and is recognizable by its elegant bell-shaped form. Each vase features a flared rim carved with floral motifs, a lower section adorned sculpted with gadroons, and an elegant molded foot mounted on a round base. Minor damages and losses. One of the vases has undergone an old restoration with two metal staples. The pair is drilled at the base to allow water drainage.
